Sancti et Sanctae Dei, orate pro nobis!

April 13
St. Hermenegild

LEOVIGILD, King of the Visigoths, had two sons, Hermenegild and Recared, who reigned conjointly with him. All three were Arians, but Hermenegild married a zealous Catholic and by her holy example was converted to the faith. His father, on hearing the news, denounced him as a traitor, and marched to seize his person.

Hermenegild tried to rally the Catholics of Spain in his defense, but they were too weak to make any stand, and, after a two years fruitless struggle, he surrendered on the assurance of a free pardon. When safely in the royal camp, the king had him loaded with fetters and cast into a foul dungeon at Seville. Tortures and bribes were in turn employed to shake his faith, but Hermenegild wrote to his father that he held the crown as nothing and preferred to lose sceptre and life rather than betray the truth of God.

On Easter night, an Arian bishop entered his cell, and promised him his father's pardon if he would but receive Communion at his hands. Hermenegild indignantly rejected the offer and knelt with joy for his death-stroke. The same night a light streaming from his cell told the Christians who were watching near that the martyr had won his crown and was keeping his Easter with the Saints in glory.
